minds of both producers and shippers,

and the California Fruit Union is to be congratulated on its selection of a man to send on this important mission.

A reporter of the Record Union called on Mr. Weinstock at his residence last evening, and requested him to give something of a description of difficulties which had t) be overcome in order to bring about so radical a change in the handling of California fruits. Mr. Weinstock modestly declined to go into those particulars, remarking that the results were what the people were most interested in and he was perfect-

where they formerly had but one. In the first place, when they were selling the pro-duct at private sale they were not permitted that their own purchase would necessarily iterfere with ours, hence, according to by the Union and the only profit they could make, if the business was conducted shipper.

"In the second place they occupy the position of agents in Chicago, which entitles them to a commission on all goods

" In the third place they occupy the position of Chicago Jobbers. They buy in the auction room as other jobbers do and sell to the trade and make a profit on what they buy. Their duty to the Union begins and ends with receiving the goods rom the railroad company, turning i over to the auctioneers (who have no interest except in the auction commission and who sell to the bighest bidder, no mat ter who the indvidual is, so long as he pays for the goods) guaranteeing the accounts and making immediate returns to the owners."

By this new method of selling the fruit and who is injured?" asked the reporter.
"This is one of those peculiar instances where all parties interested are benefitted

haps there is one class of persons favorably affected, and that is the Calienhancing the value of your lands and building up the country, which is a benefit

"As to listing those who are benefited by this method of disposing of the fruit, we might begin with the Eastern consumer. He is benefited because now we are send ing larger supplies of fruit, it is going into a large rnumber of hands at retail and the fancy retail profits of the past are being largely cut down, while the Esstern consumer finds himself surrounded with larger supplies of California fruits at very moderate prices.

"The next person who is benefited is the Eastern fruit jobber. the past the California fruit trade was confined to, at the most, one or two jobbers in a city. The California Fruit Union, for example, would appoint one agent in Chicago. That agent would appoint sub-agents in the larger interior towns, and just as we would confine our upplies to one agent he in turn would conne his supplies to his sub-agents. As a resuit, only a very few of the vast number of Eastern jobbers were in a position to nandle California fruits and get a share of the profits to be made by handling them. By the introduction of the auction system, the bars have been let down and every fruit jobber in the East has virtually been invited to handle California fruits on an even ooting with the most favored buyer. The result is that many Eastern jobbers are handling California fruus to-day who never hought of doing so a year ago. Within a omparatively short time there will be carcely any jobber in the vast markets of the East who can afford to ignore our fruits. Hence I say that the Eastern jobber is likewise benefited by the change in our method of selling.

"As I explained before, the agents of the Fruit Union are decidedly benefited by the fited because it opens up to him a vast market that hitherto has been sealed.

"The California fruit-grower is the one tho is most benefited, since, in the first lace, it creates a greatly increased demand for his fruits and places him in a position where he can either ship on his own ac-count or sell to a shipper, who by this ethod has become an eager buyer, If he decides to ship, he enjoys the advantage of having his fruit brought to the notice of all the buyers in the market who stand bidding against each other for the privilege of getting it. His fruit is sold within an hour or so after its arrival, when it is in better condition than it can possibly be at any later time. He is notified by telegraph of what his products have realized, and by the difference in time is enabled to know the result before the sale actually takes place. By the first mail he finds himself perity of California, is benefited by this change of methods, first, because it enession of a check for the net results. Every man, woman and child in California, or who is dependent upon the pros hances the value of every acre of land in our State; secondly, because it means, in the

"From the date the auction was started ntil the 4th of July, more than double the quantity of fruit was sent to Chicago and points east of Chicago than for the correponding period of a year ago, and it is reaonable to assume that this proportionate increase will be kept up for the remainder of the season. "What is the probable consumption for

That is not easy to estimate, though I el I am safe in saying that in the near ture New York and Chicago will each indle ten carloads per day during the shipping season, Boston at least five car-loads per day and the minor markets, such as St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, St Paul and Minneapolis from two to three carloads per day each." "Are we not already filling up the in erior markets with our present ship-

"Decidedly not A day spent in Cin-nnati last week brought to light the fact that notwithstanding we have shipped more than double the quantity of fruit so far this year, all the California fruit that ly willing to give any information in regard to the plan and what had been acmarkets were overloaded. Here is a city with "The fact is," said Mr. Weinstock, "those a population of over 300,000, and while it is who were at first strongly opposed to the auction plan now give it their hearty support. An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember, a few years ago the "malaria" was comparatively unknown; to day it is as common as any word in the English language; yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they * malaria are intended to cover wha our grandfathers called biliousness, and all are aused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the liver, which, in per-forming its functions, finding it cannot lispose of the bile through the ordinary annel, is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, ma-laria, bilious fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure.
